

INDUSTRY PLACEMENT PROGRAM

MASTER OF BIOTECHNOLOGY

Partner with us to train the next generation of leaders in biotechnology.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Monash Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences and the Australian Regenerative Medicine Institute (ARMI) are inviting organisations to supervise our high-achieving students undertaking an industry placement program of the Master of Biotechnology for a period of three or six months.

Students undertaking the placement program will have completed a number of specialised studies, and will have some knowledge of commercialisation, entrepreneurship and regulation in a biotechnology context.

Our placement coordinator will be in constant liaison with each industry/company.

More information about the Master of Biotechnology can be found at study.monash

HOW YOU'LL BENEFIT

Our skilled students can offer a fresh perspective and may add significant value to your business. Your staff will have further invaluable mentoring, leadership and management skill development opportunities.

By becoming one of our placement partners, you will:

- identify prospective employees and recruit new talent
- improve the quality of graduates available to your industry.
- promote your organisation's culture and industry's potential to future graduates.

There will be no financial cost to your organisation and you will have the flexibility of placing students on projects or rotations that would suit a temporary appointment.

HOW THE PROGRAM WORKS:

As a host organisation, you'll need to:

- brief the student(s) on the duties assigned to them and requirements of your workplace in regard to dress code, confidentiality of information, workplace health and safety practices and standards
- provide regular feedback to the student(s) on their work during the placement and report any concerns about student performance to ARMI
- return a final supervisor evaluation form to ARMI by the required date.

Get in touch to find out more about our industry placement program. We look forward to working with you.
